Preparing your NDSAC CD-Rom

The CD-Rom that accompanies the printed copies of your NDSAC submission must contain a separate pdf file for each document contained in your binder.

If your binder has numbered dividers containing section names, and each section contains several documents, the files on your disk must be numbered, named and grouped in the same way as the printed copy for quick reference.

Each pdf file name must have no spaces or special characters such as commas, brackets, apostrophes, etc. File names need only be long enough to clearly distinguish between document titles that may be similar.
